WORLD-FIRST: LUXURY FAREWELLS FOR FUR BABIES

Pet owners can now say farewell in heavenly luxury, listening to their beloved animal's favourite tune as their fur baby is gently driven away to its final resting place in a Mercedes Benz fitted with custom leather and timber interior.

High demand from discerning customers and a desire to offer the highest quality service possible has led Pet Angel Funerals, servicing south-east Queensland and Northern New South Wales, to add two luxury vehicles to its fleet.

"We have only had Pet 1 and Pet 2 on the road for a few days now and we have been inundated with inquiries," said Pet Angel Funerals founder Tom Jorgensen.

"This sophisticated service will make pet owners and their deceased fur babies feel extra special. It's about the finer details like having stunning white roses and special music playing in the Mercedes with your pet. We want pet owners' minds to be at ease, knowing their angel is being taken to the crematorium in a most beautiful way."

He said the new deluxe service package, available from $575, included Australian-made memorial products and collection of pets by a uniformed chauffeur.

Pet Angel Funerals is now south-east Queensland's largest independent family-owned pet crematorium, caring for around 800 families a month. Mr Jorgensen said that despite the sadness surrounding pet deaths, he was pleased more pet owners were calling upon the Pet Angel team to help them say goodbye to their furry friends with grace and dignity.
